By studying hundreds of matches from top-level play to build an understanding of how the pros move and what's required to perform at the top level, the AI is able to more accurately predict how players will react in specific situations. This means FIFA 22 AI is more likely to make better decisions, react to situations in real time and make more unpredictable tactical decisions based on player individuality than before. FIFA 22 introduces 'Match Day', a new mode where players take over a match from Captain to Captain, improving their chance of success, as the AI adjusts on the fly with each attacking chance and goal. HyperMotion Technology is at the heart of the game and offers new "Control Style" options to deliver a player-led, responsive, and reactive experience, that provides every single player with the ability to control his style of play. It also enhances the immersive, tactical and intelligent gameplay that sets FIFA apart, with various additions to visual and audio stimuli. Finally, the new Score and Post-Game Live review features are designed to provide fans with an even more interactive experience. "FIFA has led the way in sports video games for over three decades and we're committed to becoming the number one football game ever again. We've done this by creating a more intelligent, connected and responsive game that we think fans will enjoy." said Charles De Mar, Studio Director at EA SPORTS. "FIFA 19 received critical acclaim and broke new ground with the introduction of FIFA Ultimate Team, our brand-new feature that is truly differentiated on its gameplay, content and value. "As we now create a new generation of fans with FIFA 22, we are committed to taking the FIFA experience to the next level, using HyperMotion and the new Sound and AI innovations." SOUND Scoreboard improvements A new scoreboard for each team has been added to the first pitch of the game, making it even easier to quickly check the score, league table, and see who's playing who, making it the key to unlocking the game's true depth and functionality. Update schedules With the addition of updates, players can now update their player cards and the menu screen before a match to keep their cards up to date, while in-match you can choose to automatically check the clubs' transfer windows before pressing play. Emblems All clubs and players have been updated with new premium
