This should be a much easier way of downloading the script (and is more efficient). It is a separate file included in the bundled URL that you receive from your friend. For people using: Now you should be able to download the script (and the friend can request the script again in case you don't have an internet connection or are in a remote location) and add the URL to other sites or use the URL as a download link in e-mails or on forums. Also: I have incorporated a few changes to make it easier for you to use it if you decide to use it from a different site. For example: The Download button now automatically initializes (but not more than once) at the script location. Before it would only initialize once during the install. Also: I've now made the API link to expire (and log out) after every 20 failed attempts. Lastly: You can now select the boxes at the end of the script to activate those functions. If you don't select any boxes, the default functions will be active. If you have any questions regarding this script, or any other programming questions, please contact me on the PSID Forums or the PSID Message Board.
