ESP Games present Miasma 2, the sequel to 2010's hit strategy title, Miasma. Take control of Paul or Lina once more, and command your elite squad of freedom fighters in battle against the oppressive Vilhelm Industries. With an all-new turn-based tactics/real-time battle system, the action runs fast and thick, and with new units to command - and a whole new graphics engine - this is one adventure not to be missed. Included is a single-player campaign, continuing from one year after the events of Miasma 1, a survival mode, where you can pit your skills against waves of increasingly more difficult enemies, and post your scores online against the best Miasma players worldwide, and a New Game+ mode, where you can keep amassing those upgrades to create the most powerful team imaginable. All this is set against an entirely original score by composer Julian Cole. And, as always, all this for just $9.99! Features: New Graphics Engine 8 new units 5 new boss battles Autosave Cloud Save Achievements Steam Leaderboards Single Player Campaign Survival Mode New Game+ Available on PC, iPhone, iPad, and Android Current (2018) description: Miasma 2 is a fangame of the Miasma series. It is a sequel of sorts to it's parent game, but has been rebuilt to use current PC tech for ease of play. Miasma 2 features single player, campaign and survival modes as it was built to be played solo, however it is a multiplayer game (like the original). You will find yourself playing against other people of the Miasma World, seeing what strategies can be bested, and leveling up to get ahead of your opponents. New Game+ can also be found to continue play. You can download the game, read the readme, and play as a solo game. You can also use Cloud Saves to play using someone else's save, or play over a LAN. A ping command can be used to make sure you know your opponents are on your server. Miasma 2 is a fun strategy game that takes alot of time to learn, and see how far you can get. Keep in mind this is only for PC's, and can be played as an Indie Game on Xbox Live. References External links Official site Category c9d1549cdd

Through The Fragmentation [Updated-2022]

I realize the episode is not, say, 30 minutes long, but I think we're entitled to a full recap. This is the third time we've been back for the fourth wall maintenance in a row! (All that said, please let me know if I missed anything. I'm very good at it.) I'll preface this by saying that the chapter is TL;DR for all but the most perceptive of readers. For those who have followed along, the short answer is that we have our first real character outside of Dorian and Jonas, and that character is Lucretia, or "Luc" as she has been referred to as. All of the previous chapters from A Clockwork Ley-Line: The Borderline of Dusk have been full of revelations about that side of the universe, and we have the first peek at that side of the world in this chapter. It's only a peek, since we start off with Dorian and Luc talking over the walls. We'll get to see more later, and perhaps there will be some connection there... The Past: A Very Brief Summary It's assumed that you've been following along so far and are at least at about chapter 26. For this installment, we go back to the present timeline. After Jonas and Dorian were sent to war, they lost, and were assigned to new captains, and we last saw Jonas in the shadowlands. Things have been a bit quiet in the RLAN, and our heroes have been spending time with the people of Meridia in Dorian's old hideout. But a new peril arose, one that will soon threaten all of their lives... The Present: From the Borderline to the Ley-Line Chapter 26, Daybreak of Remnants Summary: This was a kind of normal chapter, with a lot of talk of how to get through a crisis. At this point, things have been settled down for a while, and Dorian and Luc are back to their old spot, telling stories, and admiring the weather. At this point, we get the first reference to A Clockwork Ley-Line: Daybreak of Remnants, the sequel to the original A Clockwork Ley-Line. We also find out that the two worlds are connected at this time, but since they're on opposite sides of the world, there is no direct exchange between them. Instead, they're connected through some kind of... well, they

, ESP. DE LA WATER : Goomers worry about estate taxes In the popular conservative chant, there's a refrain: "I am not ready to die yet, you'll have to take care of my estate." The lyrics seem to trivialize mortality, but Sen. Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania appears to think that they are about the most important issue for the nation's 77 million baby boomers. The topic was one of the oldest and most contentious in the 1960s. Pointing out that his own generation is younger than the median age of U.S. death, Senator Specter said, "When you think of the interests that concern your generation, mortality is the number one thing." The concern was that federal estate taxes at the time would interfere with the boomers' decision to live independently after retirement and to hand over their patrimony to their children. At 50, most are eligible for the $3.4 million exemption from the 35% corporate tax, and at 60 would not be subject to them. But if that exemption were removed, federal estate taxes on inheritances over $10 million that transfer to a family dynasty -- often run by Uncle Sam's grim enemy, the special interests -- could discourage a way of living Americans have long approved. In such an estate, some might prefer to reward their own offspring, or even sell stock in the business or arrange for a second home in Fort Lauderdale or in Palm Beach. Among boomers, the idea of providing substantial wealth to their children has tended to be regarded as patronizing and even crass. The present generation might see that as demeaning. And any such taxes that occurred would be likely to bite the family of the far wealthier. [336] The GOP's Reagan budget strategy: Deficit hawks have been in charge of budgeting and tax writing for a while now. But it's time to open up the process and spill some "entertainment" money. One way to get out of the box, suggested Representative Dan Rostenkowski, a Chicago Democrat, is to give that slot to the committee handling Entertainment (not Essentertainment, even though the has-beens don't have sweeteners anymore). Mr. Rostenkowski never had the chance to propose a bill -- then in the province of the House Ways and Means committee -- he said he would love to send to the floor. Instead, he was "demoted" to the
