3.4.1 Accessing Word and Excel Objects Word and Excel allow you to add hyperlinks to objects. The shortcut buttons used to open hyperlinks are similar to those used to open drawings. The keyboard shortcuts for inserting hyperlinks are shown in the figure. The hyperlinks can be activated through the links icon, hyperlink button or the shortcut keys for the commands Activate Hyperlink, Activate Hyperlink and Insert Hyperlink. When you click on a hyperlink, Word or Excel opens the document in a new window, as shown in the figure. A new window can be useful for Word and Excel. Opening a new window for some situations can be more useful than a document in a single window, for example, when using a reference library or when you are inserting or editing additional information into an existing document. There are multiple shortcut keys available for opening a new document, by default Excel opens the document in the new window and Word opens it in the active document. A man just attempted to blow up a plane, and he seems to have succeeded. The incident happened at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York, when a Delta Air Lines flight to West Palm Beach, Florida from New York was blown apart by a man with a bomb vest. According to initial reports, the passenger was armed with a bomb, but whether or not the bomb was detonated is unclear. An eyewitness named Al said, "We thought the plane was going to explode. It blew off a whole window. You could see outside. You could actually see people in it." © iStock/holgerstrom The Airbus
